

STAGING SERVICES JOURNEY TO THE

LOST CITY OF ATLANTIS

Staging Services has wide range of Atlantis props. our collection includes a giant Poseidon statue, sunken relics, Corinthian columns, signage, star cloth and supporting AV effects

Where is Atlantis – The Mysterious Location

The narrations suggested that the city is believed to have sunk into the sea after an earthquake or tsunami. According to him, the so called Atlantis was a large island located near the Rock of Gibraltar, and consisted of a Poseidon temple and concentric walls and canals.

Tale of God's love

Legend says that the Atlantis city was built by Poseidon- the God of Sea, of storms and earthquakes- when he fell in love with a mortal woman Cleito. According to the story, Poseidon walked through the world in an effort to find the biggest island until he reached the biggest of them all- Atlantis and found it to be inhabited by people who were more beautiful and intelligent than rest of the world. It was then he fell in love with Cleito when he finds her in the island.

The Golden Statue of Poseidon

The fable tells that Cleito had five pairs of twin sons with Poseidon, the eldest of which was named Atlas. The ten sons inherited the great city and the first child, Atlas, became the first ruler of Atlantis. However, it is believed they also built a giant statue of Poseidon in solid gold riding a chariot carried by winged horses.

Rising of Atlantis

Other than the legend of the lost city of Atlantis and other fables, the fact about the city still remains unknown. Among historians and other researchers, the findings of Edgar Cayce had something different to tell. Edgar Cayce believed in the rising of the lost city once again like 'the sun rises from the sea'. He predicted a new land would appear off the east coast of North America.

Atlantis' extra-terrestrial connection

Stories also claim that the original inhabitants of the lost city of Atlantis are believed to be of extra-terrestrial origin who reached there about 50,000 years ago from the Lyrian star system. Despite being much taller and fairer than today's average human being, the average life span of these people is believed to have been 800 years, making them really robust and strong prototype of existent human race then.

A fable based on real events?

While many still consider the Lost City of Atlantis is just a legend, there are many conspiracy theories doing the rounds suggesting that the fable is actually based on real events. Ocean explorer Robert Ballard finds logic in the story as it has similarities with a massive volcanic eruption in the island of Santorini in the Aegean Sea near Greece. Ballard says a highly advanced society lived there disappeared suddenly as happened with the Atlantis. Similarly, Ignatius Donnelly also confirms the existence and disappearance of a mid-Atlantic continent that was in the exact location that Plato mentioned.